Dear Mr. Weisberg.

On the 17th and 18th of this month our local CBS television station showed the programs which you and the other critics took part in with Jim Bishop, the next night I watched the program with Mark Lane, Nizer, Jenners and Scobey.

— I was more interested in the pictures that were shown than what was said. I know what the critics have to say, and what the defenders have to say is not very interesting for want of logic. Since one picture IS worth ten thousand words I was wondering if it would be possible to put all the available pictures in one book instead of having to go different books and magazines to see these important pieces of evidence.

No one seems to have thought of this. I think that it would be of help to people who are interested in this subject.

P.S. Will Whitewash II & III be published in paperback in the near future?

Sincerly yours.
